

A guided group inquiry

Preparation checklist

- Make a copy of each of the research tasks for the groups in your class and develop any additional research tasks from questions your students have developed in Activity 1 or during the work to date.

Activity

- a) Divide the students into groups and give them their tasks. Set the boundaries on the inquiry in terms of time and standards and methods of presentation available to the students. Many groups will require some time using the internet, or visiting a shop. Discuss with them what they will need to consider before they start.
- b) Allow time for each 'expert group' to present their research findings.
